They'd Cheer Anyone...

PRETTY, AREN'T THEY? We refer of course, to both the flowers and to the Arlington misses, who are two of the 16 Girl Scouts here who have given a total of 613 hours since November as hospital aides at Symmes Arlington Hospital. The girls above, whose very presence would cheer any patient, are Joan Coughlin, at left, and Phyllis Kilmer. Others who have done fine work feeding patients, making beds, arranging flowers and folding linen and bandages are: Doris Cronin, Julie D'Orsi, Jean Ford, Luella Harris, Letitia Keleher, Jane Loud, Terry O'Brien, Patricia O'Neill, Joan Reenstierna, Lorraine Robinson, Barbara Tate, Priscilla Taylor, Barbara Watt and Phyllis Yood. A seven-week-old baby boy was found dead of strangulation in its crib last Friday afternoon. He had turned about in his sleep, tightening his garments about his neck, and was dead when discovered by his mother.

The child was Francis E. Lombard 3rd, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Lombard Jr., of 11 Varnum St.

When the frantic mother found his apparently lifeless body she sent an emergency call for help and the fire department's special service truck responded, as well as Dr. Morton Swartz of 404 Mass. Ave.

Dr. Swartz said later that the child had been dead about 15 minutes when help arrived. Nevertheless, the fire department's resuscitator was put into use for a quarter of an hour in a futile effort to breathe life back into the little body.

Finally, when all hope had been abandoned, Dr. Swartz was forced to pronounce the baby dead, and the medical examiner was notified.

Dr. Swartz later told the Press that the baby had strangled in its nightgown, not in the blankets. It was found face down, and in turning it had twisted its clothing about its neck.

"I recall several similar cases in Arlington in the past three years," Dr. Swartz said. "In every instance I found that the child's clothing had been tied snugly about the neck. In every case the top button of the nightgown was buttoned. While it is natural for a mother to bundle up a child snugly, a baby will twist and turn and in doing so it will tighten the clothing about its neck so that it may strangle."

Bad Check Passer Is Pursued

A young man who tried to cash a check in the Arlington Center branch of the Harvard Trust Co. Monday morning was recognized as a man who had previously passed a bad check, but efforts to apprehend him failed.

Patrolman James A. Cassali, Jr. saw the man running from the bank, pursued by several bank clerks, and the officer took up the chase. The man made good his escape, however, in the vicinity of the railroad station.

A Scream In The Dark

There was a mystery on Mystic St. late Friday night.

A person living in the vicinity of the dye works excitedly phoned police at 11:19 p.m.:

"There's a girl screaming in a Ford beach wagon parked near the dye works."

Police sped to the scene, but the screams apparently had not only alerted the nearby householder but also frightened the driver of the beach wagon into speeding off.

There was no sign of beach wagon, or girl.

Elect John L. Keefe Auxiliary Police Head

John L. Keefe of 28 Alton St. was elected president of the Arlington Auxiliary Police Association at the group's annual meeting Monday night, in the guard room at police headquarters.

Mr. Keefe, who is engaged in pharmaceutical research for the Brewer Co. in Worcester, succeeds Harry W. Proudfoot, who last week was taken seriously ill and had to be hospitalized.

William J. Sinclair of 180 Jason St., an executive of the Norwalk Tire and Rubber Co., was elected vice president; Clarence H. Marsh, an oil burner salesman for the Metropolitan Ice Co., was elected treasurer, and Leonard G. Russell, retired, of 43 Webowet St., was elected clerk.

At a previous meeting, the following were added to the association's board of directors for three years: John J. Spadaro, Gordon Thompson, William G. Hanlon, Walter H. Fitzgibbon, Walter J. Taylor, Harold E. Williams, Frank P. Doran, Charles L. Berg, Leonard G. Russell, Arthur R. Kimball.

Town Defends Its Issuance Of Garage Permit On Franklin St.; Fire Marshall Defers Decision

Defending their issuance of a garage repair license for a wooden structure at 25 Franklin St., the selectmen through Town Counsel Russell T. Hamlet introduced testimony at a hearing Monday to show that the building will not become, as claimed by neighbors, a fire hazard.

Speaking as a witness at a hearing at the state fire marshal's office Monday, Fire Chief Daniel B. Tierney stated that if the building is used as a garage for three cars it will not be a fire hazard, under the meaning of the law."

Atty. Philip Pelligrini, representing Stewart Whitehouse and other protesting neighbors, introduced testimony by a number of neighbors stressing their objections. Atty. Francis Keefe represented Daniel Barry, a World War II veteran, to whom the license has been issued.

Fire Marshal Flanders reserved decision after hearing which lasted from 10 to 12:30 noon.

Saved By 'Second Story Job'

Mrs. Joseph Coleman, wife of the Philadelphia Athletics' pitcher, had occasion to see and appreciate some expert second-story work Friday.

In fact, Mrs. Coleman was responsible for the "second-story job."

She forgot her house keys, and found herself locked out of her home, at 12 Alton St. Firemen went to her assistance with a 20-foot ladder, which they raised to gain entrance through a second-story window.

Architects Draft Specifications For New Crosby School; Contract Expected To Be Placed By Sept. 1

The contract for construction of the $580,000 elementary Crosby School in the Mystic Side area will be awarded about Sept. 1, Chairman Harold M. Estabrook of the special committee told the Press this week.

The committee now is busy drawing definite specifications for the new building and should be ready to advertise for bids about Aug. 1, Mr. Estabrook said. The committee thus far has only a sketch of the proposed structure.

Working in conjunction with the well known firm of architects, Perry Shaw and Hepburn, detailed plans for the building now are being prepared. These include plans for steel work, electrical layout, floors, etc., and entail considerable work.

Mr. Estabrook's committee, which drew up tentative plans and cost estimates, was continued in office by vote of the town meeting and thus now becomes the building committee charged with securing bids and overseeing the actual construction work.

The school will be constructed on a site comprising 90,544 square feet of land located on property known as the Crosby farm, at the northwest intersection of Columbia Rd. and Stowescroft Rd. The site will require extensive grading, and its size will provide a restricted playground area suitable for small children.

The building has been architecturally planned to harmonize with the surroundings and enhance the attractiveness of the district.

The school has been planned to provide the best lighting and orientation for the classrooms. The schoolroom block with eight classrooms for 35 pupils each include a kindergarten and nurses' department on the first floor, a combined library and music room, and a teachers' rest room on the second floor.

Provision will be made for the future addition of four more classrooms.

The administration office will be in the center, in a unit separating the schoolrooms from the auditorium. The auditorium will seat 400, with a stage, and with dressing rooms on the floor below.

A large playground is placed beneath the auditorium, advantage being taken of the slope of the land so that this room has adequate natural light on both long walls. A small kitchen will provide limited cafeteria service. The auditorium-playroom combination is expected to offer ample facilities for Parent-Teacher Association meetings, and other similar functions.

The exterior of the building will be of red brick, with slate roof, and the construction will be first class fireproof throughout.

Upon completion of the new school, the school committee plans to draw new school district lines to permit the transfer of a part of the present enrollment of the Russell School, built in 1872, to be transferred to the Crosby School. Eventually, use of the Russell

They'll Build 38 Homes

JAMES TAURASI, at right, and John Cadario are shown as they broke ground last week on Lake St. for a new realty development which will give Arlington 38 new dwellings. Most of the homes will be single-family, and will sell at from $11,000 to $15,000. Mr. Taurasi recently competed 27 homes in Arlmont Ridge. Mr. Cadario is doing the land work in connection with the new project.

Court Hearing Next Tuesday In Move To Retire Chief Tierney

The question of whether Fire Chief Daniel B. Tierney should under existing laws be retired because of age, or retained despite his 73 years because he is hale and vigorous enough to continue in service, will be aired at a hearing before Judge Thomas J. Dowd in Superior Court next Tuesday.

Opposing sides at the hearing will be the Arlington selectmen, represented by town Counsel Russell T. Hamlet, defending their stand in retaining Chief Tierney beyond the age of 65, and

Kiwanians Told Marshall Plan May 'Partly' Help Post-War Ills

The Marshall Plan can at best only partly assuage the great post war moral and material dislocations, members of the Arlington Kiwanis Club were told last Thursday by Dr. George Washovich of Hunter College, an authority on the slavic and Russian situations.

Dr. Washovich stressed that the Marshall Plan of aid to Europe would have an impact in three spheres: on the domestic life of the people of the U. S., who must foot the bill; on the democratic hopes of the peoples of western Europe, and above all on the Eastern Europe where the plan will be in competition with the so-called Molotov Plan.

"Profound modifications in our domestic outlook as well as in our foreign policy and its interrelationships must necessarily ensue," he said.

The Kiwanians welcomed two new members: Richard Anderson, advertising, and Robert B. Longpre, Arrow Motors.

Scooping Around Arlington High

with KATHLEEN KIRSCHBAUM

The Gilbert and Sullivan Club scored a great hit Friday and Saturday nights with its near-professional treatment of "The Gondoliers." Young and old alike were amazed at the talent in A.H.S. represented in the fine singing, acting, and dancing.

Mr. O.L. Hassler Einzig should feel well-pleased as the director of a real success and the orchestra that so ably accompanied the players.

Each member of the cast deserves to be commended individually for a noteworthy portrayal of his special character, but there is time to mention the cast only as a whole. Matthew Camarda played the Duke of Plaza-Toro; Perley Arthur, Luiz; Joseph Roper, Don Alhambra Del Bolero; Gene Fuller, Marco Palmieri; Stan, Sorrentino, Giuseppe Palmieri; Larry Marshall, Antonio; Terry McGough, Francesco; Oscar Swensen, Giorgio; Robert Dahill, Annibale; Doris Cowan, the Duchess of Plaza-Toro; Marion Slattery, Casilda; Pauline Anifantis, Gianetta; Virginia Todd, Tessa; Nancy Richmond, Fiametta; Millie Carlson, Vittoria; Jean Chase, Inez. The understudies were Jean Chase, Larry Marshall, Terry McGough, Dorothy Redman, and Nancy Richmond. Supporting the cast were chorus members: Alma Aysanti, Anne Belanger, Faith Bowiby, Millie Gallagher, Ada Grant, Shirley Grant, Joan Gurich, Barb Holden, Helen Kelley, Frances MacDonald, Sally Mac Donald, Helen Martucci, Eleanor Mulhern, Gloria Page, Nancy Perham, Alda Perry, Dorothy Redman, Bev Smith, Mary Stahl, Judith Walker, Adella Walker, John Brilliante, Eddie Cahaly, Emanuel Consales, Charles Cronin, Charles Cummings, Lewis Cummings, Ron Forbes, Arthur Foster, Dell Ivester, Bob Kilcoyne, Fred Lewis, Harry Menzoin, Fred Rose, Bruce Thorburn, Harvey Wyman and achucha dancers: Carly Cadario, Jo Anne Calley, Nancy Gray, Lois Sart, Jean O'Neil, Doty Pierce, Ruth Timmins, Marion Wyman. Special credit goes also to the staff: Helen Center, dances; Donald Sullivan, coach; Walter Russell and Carol Sandler, accompanists; Charles Campbell, faculty business manager; Robert Caldwell, student business manager; Lawrence Arthur, programs; Betty Zine, wardrobe mistress; Cohris Gardner, stage lighting; Atholie Kerner, head usher; Phil Johnson, narrator; Robert Caldwell and James Regan, tickets; Charles Skinner, candy.

A number of the 47 class members recently enjoyed an early spring vacation after their first few months at various colleges. They include: Robert Starckey from Colgate; Jean Lindvall, Vermont Jr. College; Troy Sitter, Harvard (who plans to start B.U. next fall); Fran Strong, North Carolina State; Grace Feener, Mass State; Kenny Wells, Wilbraham Academy; Natalie Hall, La Salle Jr. College.

Introducing—Allan Kenney

If you notice a six-foot junior boy with brown hair and blue eyes and catch a few witty remarks here and there, ten to one it's Allan Kenney, recently voted most popular junior boy in the "chronicle" superlatives.

Allan's one of those rare all-round lads. This is his first year on the Student Council; he's in a College I curriculum including Latin; and he plays forward with the AHS hoopers.

The Arlington Boys' Club is one of his outside activities. During the basketball season, he played forward on that team. Two other sports favorites with him are baseball and hockey. For a summer, side-light, he worked at an army post in Presque Isle, Maine, for a construction company. When asked facetiously if there were Wacs on the base, he answered "They were all crazy, but no Wacs"

There's no definite vocational ambition for Allan just now, but he plans to be a freshman at Holy Cross Come 1949.

The annual G.A.A. talent show at school has been scheduled for after-vacation. Any talented student at AHS may sign up now to participate in this entertainment. Prizes are always awarded and unusual talent is very often brought to light.

Early last week this year's graduating class voted on two questions of particular concern to the seniors. Results decided: no caps or gowns at graduation; the prom at the Arlington Town Hall May 21.

Last Thursday night Ann Menzoin '49 and a friend from Providence were thrilled at meeting and dining with Nick Contino, the talented accordion player on the Horace Heidt show, who Ann says is "handsome" and has "a swell personality."

The junior issue of the "Chronicle" went on sale in home rooms on March 31. Among the junior features were a cartoon, an editorial, junior headlines, "Class President 1949," juniors in sports and junior superlatives. The paper has now become an almost 100 per cent school project for Mr. Arthur and the print shop boys who are printing the paper.

Grass Fire

A fire alarm was sounded Sunday at 2:50 p.m. from box 532, at Grove and Dudley Sts., for a grass fire on property at 25 Grove St. owned by Patrick Hurley. The blaze was quickly extinguished, with recall in 15 minutes.

Three Youths Steal Two Cars In Somerville; Are Caught Here

Exploring Boy, Aged 3, Gets Lost

Mitchell Bastrom, aged 3, of 53 Huntington Rd., went on an exploration trip Monday—but the bewildering array of streets and houses got him confused, and the first thing he knew he was a lost child.

A Mr. Mullen of 99 Newland Rd. phoned police headquarters at 2 p.m. that he had a lost child at his home, and a police car drove around to pick up little Malcolm and take him home.

'Cud' Tobin Gets Post As Coach

George "Cud" Tobin, well remembered as a football and basketball star at Arlington High, has been named a full-time coach at Holy Redeemer High School in Detroit, Mich.

Due to receive his M.A. degree from Notre Dame in June, Tobin will take his new coaching job in the fall. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Tobin of 3 Park Terrace, and was married in 1946 to a Chicago girl.

Thanks

"The Arlington Press, Gentlemen:—
"Please accept our sincere gratitude for the publicity which you gave to the 1948 Red Cross Fund Campaign.
"We know that the oversubscription of our quota was in a large measure due to the fine publicity which we received from the local papers, and we want to express our appreciation to you for the part you played in making the victory possible.
Timothy W. Good Jr.,
Campaign Chairman."

Three youths who had broken in to a Somerville garage early Tuesday morning and stolen two cars—a Chevrolet sedan and an Oldsmobile station wagon were apprehended shortly afterward in Arlington. About 2 a.m. local police were notified by a citizen by phone that the driver of a station wagon had left the machine on Charlton St. and boarded a sedan in which two other men were riding. The actions of the trio, the citizen reported, seemed suspicious.

A police cruiser chanced to be in the neighborhood and, notified by radio, took up a chase and overtook the Chevrolet. One of the three men in the car—the one who had been driving the station wagon, jumped out and momentarily escaped; the other two were brought to headquarters.

It took but a few minutes to establish that the two cars had been stolen, and the third man later was picked up after his identity had been established from his companions. The three—all residents of Somerville—were turned over to police of that city.

Elks Induct New Officers

More than 200 visiting Elks were guests at the installation of officers of the Arlington Lodge of Elks last (Wednesday) evening, when William B. Houser was inducted as exalted ruler.

William C. Pike, past exalted ruler of Somerville Lodge, was the installing officer.

Other officers inducted into office were: esteemed leading knight, John F. McGann Jr., esteemed loyal knight, Joseph A. Parcell; esteemed lecturing knight, Charles Schultz; secretary, Edward M. Cartullo; treasurer, Ernest L. Parsons; tiler, John Gallucci; trustee for three years, Charles L. Berg Sr.; trustee for two years, Salvatore Cannistraro; alternative representative, Charles L. Berg Sr.

The Social Alliance of the First Parish Church will hold a rummage sale Thursday, April 15, in the church vestry, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Did This Photo Puzzle You, Too?

MANY A READER of the Press was puzzled last week, when the photo above first was published, for there's a dwelling house in the picture that shouldn't be there. The five gentlemen in the photo were snapped while standing in front of W.F. McManus' Mystic Valley Motors at 94 Mystic St. They were posed in front of a plate glass window, and the house visible at the left is the reflection of a building across the street. At first glance, the building appears to have been moved bodily INSIDE the garage.

Grass Fires Break Out

Grass and brush fires have begun to plague the fire department.

Four calls for such blazes were received at fire headquarters Saturday and Sunday, as follows: Saturday, 5 p.m., 145 Brattle St., Saturday, 7 p.m., reservoir; Sunday, 2:50 p.m., 25 Grove St., Sunday, 3:56 p.m., 308 Mystic St.

Auto Rams Tree, Sign

Someone who ran his auto into a tree at Pleasant St. and Gould Rd. didn't bother to report the matter to police.

Patrolman Gerald J. Duggan noticed Sunday that the tree, as well as a stop sign, bore evidence of having been run into.

Arcadians Edged Out

The Arlington Arcadians lost 4-2 to the Belmont Aces, in the championship final of the Jr. AHA playoffs Saturday at the Boston Garden.

In the semi-finals in the morning, the Arlington club shut out West Haven, Conn. 7-0, and Belmont edged Winchester 4-3. To reach the finals the locals romped over East Boston—14-1, beat the Framingham Bears 5-2 and swamped the Needham Braves 2-0.

I Wonder?

I WONDER if, in fairness to Arlington restaurant owners, we shouldn't point out that the chap who suffered ptomaine poisoning last week had eaten in a Cambridge restaurant, not in an Arlington eating place?

I WONDER if you know that a full page advertisement in the Arlington Press costs $15.12, less than a page in Life magazine?

I WONDER if the genial proprietor of Maids' Pharmacy isn't glad now he came here from Quincy three months ago?

I WONDER if Polly, the fire department's pet parrot, is fooled a bit by the wooden "boy parrot" that's been placed in its cage?

I WONDER who's the girl whose screams disturbed Mystic St. residents late Friday night?

I WONDER what those two garage mechanics who were lifting a heavy motor thought when a young lady tapped one of them on the shoulder and asked for a match?

I WONDER how many store clerks employed here park their cars all day on Mass. Ave., preventing customers from parking?

I WONDER if the elder Mr. Keenan misses the old days when he was a typesetter?

I WONDER who is the mysterious 'B' who is sending comic postcards to Lil at Connie's Restaurant?

I WONDER if it wasn't typical of Arlington's generosity that the Red Cross quota here was oversubscribed?

I WONDER if it will be fun browsing around at the Legion Auxiliary's rummage sale Friday of next week?

I WONDER who'll win that new Buick to be awarded in connection with the Archbishop Cushing Charity Fund drive for $20,000 here?

Spring Dance

Mrs. Thomas Killion announces a Spring dance to be held by the Hardy PTA Wednesday, April 28, at the Hardy School auditorium. There will be both modern and square dancing, and music will be furnished by Tony Parry and his orchestra.

Art Center Ends Season

On Saturday

The Menotomy Art Center, sponsored by the Arlington PTA Council at Junior High Center, will bring to a close its second successful year this Saturday.

An average of 125 pupils have attended the Saturday morning classes during the ten-week period now coming to a close and Mrs. Humphreys J. Sullivan, in charge of the project for the PTA, is well pleased with the attendance and progress made.

The school, which is conducted for ten weeks before Christmas and ten weeks after Christmas, is under direction of Mrs. Marion I. Ford, art supervisor in Arlington public schools, and the teaching staff includes Donald Plummer, art supervisor in Belmont schools; Miss Laura Marshall and Mrs. Raymond McKeever. Mrs. John E. Stafford Jr. is president of the PTA Council.

Red Cross Drive Well Over Top

Arlington over-subscribed its 1946 Red Cross quota by $750, it was announced this week by Timothy W. Good Jr., campaign chairman, and Mrs. Allen H. Thomson, associate chairman.

The total raised was $13,350, or 106 per cent of the local quota of $12,600.

New School...

School will be abandoned.

If the rearrangement of school district lines is carried out so as to eliminate the crossing of principal thoroughfares by children of elementary grades in the district and the addition of children from the Cutter School, there may be need of eleven instead of eight classrooms at the new Crosby School.

The $580,000 appropriated at the recent town meeting will be expended as follows: construction, $505,000; architects' and engineers' fees, $37,875; furnishings, $12,000; grading, contingencies, etc., $25,125.

Fire Chief...

Cambridge.

While the hearing is set for 10 a. m. the exact time the case will be heard will depend upon other business before the court.

Behind the court action, which was instituted by Capt. Egan, is the latter's resentment at being passed over in the recent appointments by Chief Tierney of two deputy chiefs. Capt. Egan ranked first on the list of four eligibles, though under the law the chief had the right to appoint any two men on the list.

Specifically, the court action he has instituted is to force the selectmen to retire Chief Tierney under a 1946 law which calls for firemen's retirement at the age of 65.

It will be the selectmen's contention in court that, first, the chief is physically able to continue in the discharge of his duties and, second that under other state laws they can legally continue him in his post.

Friends Of Drama Ready For 3 Stagings Of 'Dear Brutus'

Arrangements have been completed for presentation this Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of Sir James M. Barrie's modern comedy, "Dear Brutus," by the Arlington Friends of the Drama.

Richard Guinan will return as leading man after a long absence, and other members of the cast will include Russell Perham, Thomas Roach, Jack Olymer, James Horigan, Dorothy Wheeler, Ethel Miner, Willa Wye Rickett, Harriet Emerson, Claire Ashton and Constance Cahalin.

'Intigues' Next At University

"Intigues," a story of present-day food black market operations in Shanghai, opens Sunday at the University Theatre, with George Raft in the starring role and June Havoc and Hennecca Carter as the stellar feminine players.

Rafts, who co-produced the film with Sam Bischoff, lured Miss Havoc away from Broadway to play her first and long-sought-after straight dramatic role.

"Let's Live Again" the companion film, features John Emory and Hillary Brooks. What happens to a brainy scientist when his muscle-minded brother apparently returns to life as a dog determined to continue the brotherly relationship is one of the most amusing comedies in recent memory.
